

Are You Prepared in the Event of an Emergency?

Protect Yourself and Your Personal Property.

Your landlord's policy most likely does not cover your personal belongings or provide for your out of pocket expenses when you are unable to live in your rental. Tenants insurance will protect your personal property and may provide for temporary housing if needed.

1

Protect Your Personal Property.

As a renter, your personal property is most likely not covered by your landlord's policy. This policy will allow for Actual Cash Value coverage for Fire, Burglary, Vandalism, Lightning, Windstorm, Hail, and other named perils. The policy covers your furniture, clothing, small appliances, household items and more.

2

Cover Your Additional Living Expenses.

Should your home become temporarily unlivable due to a covered loss, you may have higher than normal costs for meals, a place to stay, and more. Our policy helps pay for these expenses.

Prepare with Personal Liability Protection.

Accidents can happen on the property you rent and, you may be held responsible. This optional coverage protects you if you're held legally responsible for accidents which cause bodily injury, Fire, Explosion, Smoke or Property Damage.
